Exxon Valdez

On March 24, 1989 at 12:04 am, the oil tanker Exxon Valdez struck Bligh Reef in Alaska's Prince William Sound. Carrying 55 million gallons of oil it is estimated that 11 million gallons spilled into the pristine waters of the sound, eventually covering 1,300 miles of coastline with oil. The Exxon Valdez spill remained the largest in U.S. history until the Deepwater Horizon spill in 2010.
